DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-6, and 8-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brown (4,595,248) in view of Bernat et al.

Brown discloses a terminal block 10 comprising a first portion 20 comprising a plurality of apertures 40 each for receiving at least one socket 26; and a second portion 22 comprising a plurality of stalls 76 each having an electrical port 52 positioned in each of the plurality of stalls; and at least one connector pin 50 positioned within one of the plurality of stalls to connect to the at least one socket through the aperture. As to claims 1 and 8, it is noted that the first portion 20 lacks a plurality of stalls and the socket is not shown attached to wires. However, Brown already discloses that it is known to provide a plurality of stalls for his second portion 22 and he also show wires 16 being attached to his pins 50. Therefore, it would have been obvious to provide a plurality of stalls for the first portion 20 and to attach wires to the sockets 26 of Brown, since this only relate to a known design choice and obvious placement of parts.

As to claims 2-3 and 9-11, Brown lacks to disclose that his sockets and pins are float-connected to the first and second portions by float-connecting means. Bernat et al. discloses jack contacts 18 float-connected to a jack housing by float-connecting means. Therefore, it would have been obvious to provide sockets and pins that are float-connected to the first and second portions by float-connecting means for the terminal block of Brown in view of the teaching of Bernat et al. which would allow for easier mating of the pins and sockets to each other.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 7 and 15 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art does not include a terminal block tray on which the stalls of the second portion are positioned; an output ground connection connected to the terminal block tray; and a wire panel connected to the terminal block tray.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Nielsen, Smith and Newman are further cited to show electrical connection block arrangements.
